Who We Are

allingus PLS was founded by two amateur translators who believe translation should make our lives easier. After 10 years in the business, we've experienced the light and dark sides of letters and today we are the largest network of Turkish language specialists in the world.

We offer complete and fully integrated translation, localization, DTP and interpreting services with offices over Europe, in the USA and in Australia. Our translators and editors are experienced native speakers, ensuring quality and cultural accuracy. Fulltime, dedicated teams of translators, editors, proofreaders and localization experts ensure that your company's message is clearly communicated to your customers in a culturally relevant and appealing form.

We translate news, patents, annual reports, minutes of meetings, tender documents, instruction manuals, technical catalogues, web sites, and more. We are outfitting ourselves with the right tools to complete your project in a timely and effective manner.

We are on the web and our services are easy to use. We evolve our business by understanding your requirements and delivering solutions that make your job easier.

Our Mission

We aim to deliver the most advanced features that the translation market demand with a relationship model based on integrity, quality, flexibility, and responsiveness. Customer satisfaction is our first priority and our services constantly improve by taking customer feedback to heart. The success of our company depends entirely on the success of our clients. Our single goal is to deliver professional language solutions that make ways of global business community easy.
